Showdown in Labor Ranks Forthcoming

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Reuther carries a secession threat to a crucial AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting today but a compromise was expected in his feud with federation chief George Meany.

Peacemakers worked to settle the union internal battle in the belief that a separated labor movement could not accomplish more than a single organization even though it was embroiled in policy differences.

This was to abolish the vacancy by reducing the 29-man council membership by two positions.

The contested vacancy was one from the former CIO side. But another seat, from the old AFL branch held by President William Doherty of the Letter Carriers Union, is being vacated because Doherty has been appointed by President Kennedy as ambassador to Jamaica.

Reuther, president of the Auto Workers Union and one-time head of the old CIO before the merged federation was established in 1955, has been insisting that President Ralph Helstein of the Packinghouse Workers be named to one of the vacant council posts staked out for former CIO unions.

Meany, AFL-CIO president, rejected Helstein on the ground that he and his union have been charged with left-wing tendencies. He suggested that a more acceptable CIO choice would be Eugene E. Frazier, a Negro, president of the United Transport Service employees representing depot "Red Caps."

Reuther was insisting that the one-time CIO union should have the right to name its own choice. Meany claimed that while the CIO could nominate someone, the choice would be subject to approval of the AFL-CIO council, over which Meany exercises approximately a 2-1 majority vote.

The controversy over the council vacancy is believed to be only a convenient battle point between Reuther and Meany, who have been feuding over personal power all during the seven years of the merged labor federation.

GOP Control Battle Is Underway

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The firing on the right and the left already has begun in what promises to be an 18-month battle between conservatives and liberals for control of the Republican party.

By the time the Republican National Convention meets in mid-1964, delegates will have before them the results of presidential primaries, the record of the Republicans in Congress and the performance of party governors in choosing a presidential candidate. No one is doubting that President Kennedy will be the democratic standard bearer.

Meantime the prospects point to plenty of intraparty battling. Last Tuesday's election gave both sides some fresh ammunition.

The party's liberals could point to the re-election of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in New York and to the victories in governor races of George Romney in Michigan and William W. Scranton in Pennsylvania as marking a trend toward moderation, if not liberalism, within the party. They could cap this with the notion that a couple of candidates regarded as liberals won key Senate races in the two biggest states. They are Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif.

Beyond this the liberals could demonstrate to their party brethren that extreme rightism does not pay by citing the defeat of four John Birch Society members in three House races in California and one in Texas.

Against this the conservatives could point to the gain of four new Republican House seats in the South, where the winning margin for either 1964 presidential candidate might lie if results in other sections of the country are else.

They could cite the narrow escape of Sen. Lister Hill, D-Ala., from defeat by a Republican candidate as evidence that there is inbred Dixie antagonism to the Kennedy administration policies — particularly on integration — that could be reflected by substantial electoral defection from the President in that area in 1964.

The conservatives' biggest victory produced a new contender for national recognition in the re-election of Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky.

The party conservatives could feel reassured that their viewpoint is going to be amply represented in the minority leadership in the new Congress.

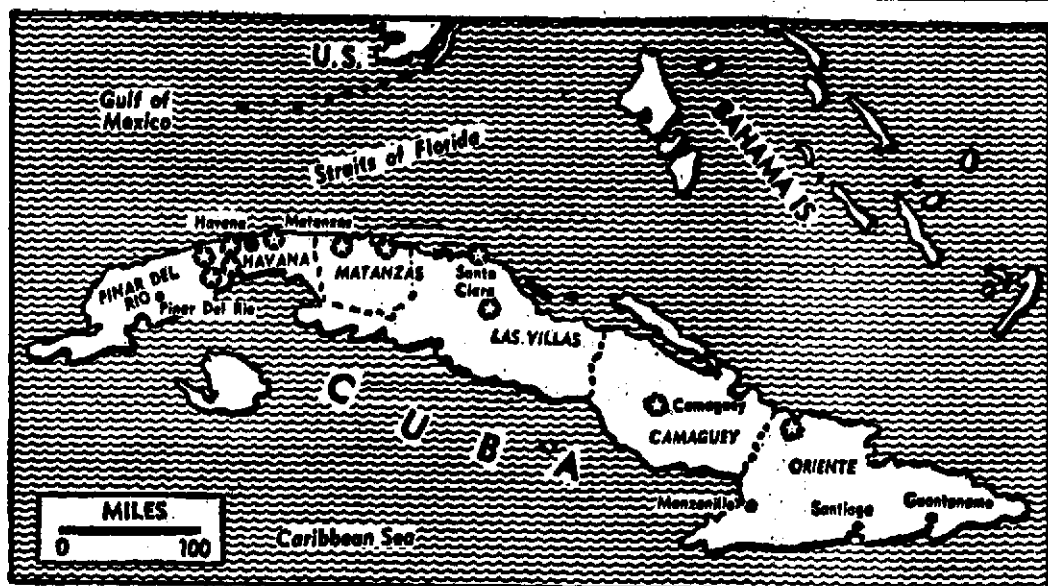

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., will be back running the Republican show in the House. In the Senate, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois again will be directing the minority floor operations and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, will be running the GOP Policy Committee.

Book Relates Red Attack on Religion

Bales is a professor at Christian doctrine at Harding College in Searcy and Philbrick is a former FBI counterspy who related his experiences in the book "I Led Three Lives."

Bales said the book would attempt to show how Communists persecute religious groups, how they have persuaded religious groups to work with them for a common cause and how Communists use "front" organizations.

Post Office Restores Service Here

Effective Tuesday night, November 13, the mail service which was necessarily suspended by the withdrawal of Missouri Pacific train 6 will be replaced by the Post Office Department.

This will be accomplished by means of a large mail truck operating from Texarkana to Little Rock, which will arrive at Hope at 8:20 p. m. each night, except Sundays and holidays, when it will arrive at 7:20 p. m.

This will fully replace the former service, including the "Arkansas Metro Service," which means that a letter mailed in the Hope post office before 7:45 p. m. will be delivered to any post office in Arkansas the following day.

The personnel of the Hope office wishes to thank the public for the fine cooperation which has been manifested in the early mailing during the period of the suspension of this part of the mail service and are happy to announce its restoration.

Typhoon Hits Guam, 1 Dead, Damage Heavy

HONOLULU (AP) — Typhoon Karen — described as the worst tropical storm in Guam's history — has rendered the island nearly helpless, leaving hundreds injured, at least one dead and an estimate $100 million in damage.

Karen ripped the tiny island — hub of the United States Pacific defense ring — late Sunday night and early Monday, Guam time, with winds estimated at 150 knots. The Navy's Pacific Fleet headquarters at Pearl Harbor said a three-day warning of the big blow "saved countless lives."

Guamanians and U.S. military personnel and their dependents began digging out of the battered island.

Guam's acting governor, Manuel Guerrero, sent an urgent appeal to Washington to rush aid. He said, "entire territory devastated by Typhoon Karen."

Guerrero's message said 95 per cent of the island's civilian community, including government employees housing was useless or destroyed.

Pacific Fleet headquarters said four of every five civilian homes had their roofs blown off.

The acting governor's message said George Washington High and Tumon Junior High schools were destroyed. Guam Memorial Hospital, the island's public works department and utilities agencies were extensively damaged, Guerrero said.

He asked the Office of Emergency Planning to declare Guam a disaster area.

The Navy's report said strongest winds smashed the island Monday morning. First estimates placed property damage at $100 million.

Communications were completely blanked as the storm ripped out antennas and transmitting equipment.

Residents took refuge in storm shelters and government buildings. The Federal Aviation Agency said some dependents were to be evacuated to Wake Island.

The Navy's tracking center at Guam gauged sustained winds of 135 knots Sunday night and early Monday, before personnel were forced to run for shelters. Messages received in Japan said winds gusted to 147 knots before measuring devices broke down.

The island, just a dot on the map, is 30 miles long and four to nine miles wide.

Tax Cut by Next Year Predicted

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., said Saturday the Kennedy administration was expected to come up with a tax cut proposal next year, but warned that he would not support such a measure unless it included provisions for broadening the tax base.

Mills, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, addressed the closing session of a Mid-South Regional Conference of the American Bar Association in Little Rock.

He said the expected Kennedy proposal initially was represented to be self-funding—that any revenue lost by a reduction in tax rates would be offset by more revenue from a concurrent broadened tax base.

Timely Tips on Cleaning Your Deer

What kind of reception do you receive as a hunter when you take home your bag of game? Does your wife throw up her hands in disgust?

If she does, says Calvin Caldwell, county agent, the fault may rest with you as a hunter. The mishandling of game after the kill often ruins its palatability.

Immediate and proper bleeding of game animals is most important in improving meat flavor, points out Mr. Caldwell. The same is true, he adds, for ducks and geese and most other game species.

This practice will do much to remove the strong, gamey flavor which some people dislike.

Field dressing immediately after the kill, especially if the weather is relatively warm is recommended. The sooner the animal is dressed the better, for immediate dressing means fewer chances of meat spoilage on undesirable flavor or odor.

Keep the game clean, advises Mr. Caldwell. Avoid letting hair, feathers, dirt or other trash or debris come into contact with the meat. Before the blood dries, wipe the body cavity clean with either a dry or slightly moistened cloth rather than by washing with water, explains the county agent.

If the weather is warm, game should be put into cold storage as soon as possible. If it is held just above freezing for several days, the meat will become more tender and have less of the undesirable "gamey" flavor. A deer should be aged in cold storage much the same as the carcass of a beef animal. On the aging process, he says, and your wife will have good reason for hoping you don't bag a deer this year.

Mr. Caldwell suggests that hunters contact local county Extension office for a copy of EL341, "Make the Most of Your Deer Kill."

Kennedy Calls in Leaders to Discuss Cuba

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy summoned his three Cuban crisis negotiators to the White House today to discuss developments to date in their talks with Soviet and U.N. representatives.

The announcement of the meeting issued by the U. S. delegation at the United Nations, did not elaborate. One development certain to be on the agenda is the Soviet missile withdrawal.

Deputy Secretary of Defense Sunday the United States has on ships steaming away from Roswell L. Gilpatrick confirmed Sunday the United States has counted 42 Russian missiles on ships steaming away from Cuba.

He stressed that without on-site inspection the United States cannot be certain whether the 42 were all Moscow sent in.

"The Soviets said there were 42," he said. "We have counted 42 going out. We saw fewer than 42 in U.S. reconnaissance flights over Cuba."

"Until we have so-called on-site inspection of the island of Cuba we could never be sure that 42 was the maximum number the Soviets brought into Cuba."

The negotiators Kennedy will see are: U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson; Charles D. Yost, Stevenson's Security Council deputy, and John J. McCloy, chairman of the President's Cuban crisis coordinating committee.

A delegation spokesman said the three will discuss with the President "developments to date in negotiations on the Cuban question with Acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant and Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov."

Among matters apparently still unresolved are:

Inspection of Cuba and ships entering Cuba.

Disposition of a score or more Lyushin-28 medium jet bombers in Cuba which Kennedy included in the category of offensive weapons that had to be withdrawn.

Cuba's U.N. representative Carlos M. Lechuga told reporters on Sunday Cuba has not altered its objection to any inspection of its territory or ships. He said Cuba did not object to inspection of ships of other nations.

Authoritative U.N. sources said the United States and the Soviet Union have been unable to agree on how long the International Red Cross Committee should inspect Cuba-bound Soviet ships to make certain no more Soviet missiles are slipped in.

Thant has declared he hoped to announce final agreement on all points by Tuesday.

Negro Shoots Another One to Death

R. C. Jones, about 20, a Negro resident of McNab, is being held in Hempstead County jail on a first degree murder charge following the fatal shooting Sunday of Charles Jefferson, about 21, of Columbus.

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin said the shooting at McNab resulted from a quarrel between the two. He said Jefferson did not have a gun.

Bullets struck Jefferson in the leg and in the lower abdomen and he died shortly after arrival at a Hope hospital.

Khrushchev Is Revising Strategy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev evidently is revising his diplomatic strategy to bring it into line with his nuclear weapons retreat from Cuba.

This may mean that he is dropping plans for an early showdown with the United States, Britain and France over the future of West Berlin.

It may also mean that the main Soviet emphasis in the next few months will be on a peace offensive, as developed in a variety of East-West negotiations, rather than on threats and pressures designed to achieve Kremlin purposes by brandishing Soviet power.

These are speculative conclusions suggested by remarks which the Soviet leader made Wednesday to reporters whom he met at a reception at Moscow. Authorities here noted that his tone was on the whole conciliatory and in accord with his published letters to President Kennedy when the Cuban missile crisis was at its height 10 days ago.

Perhaps the one remark he made which is of most interest to officials in Washington was "I was never in favor of a summit meeting" with President Kennedy. Reports of this remark were read here in the context of what most officials now believe to have been one of Khrushchev's principal purposes and possibly his main design in putting nuclear missiles into Cuba in the first place.

The belief that such a plan did in fact exist arises out of the timing of various Khrushchev maneuvers which pointed to an early effort on his part to force a Berlin showdown and, in that connection, to have a summit meeting with Kennedy. The assumption here is that he planned to use the Soviet buildup as a surprise move aimed at gaining U.S. concessions on Berlin.

Ever since Khrushchev's hand was called on his Cuba gambit and he chose to back down rather than face the grave dangers of a military conflict that could spread into a great nuclear war, U.S. officials have been watching for signs which would indicate Khrushchev's future strategy.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Arkansas opera fans may rejoice at plans of Arkansas City for eventual restoration of what the community claims to be the oldest opera house in the state.

Particularly may they rejoice in light of the recent demise of two of the finest old cultural centers in the state—the opera houses at Hot Springs and Texarkana.

Arkansas City was, at the turn of the century, a thriving, Mississippi River port and the old frame structure was the center of cultural activity for its some 10,000 residents.

It was simply and appropriately named, "The Opera House." If such presentations as Mascagni's "The Cavalleria Rusticana" and the Verdi masterpiece, "Il Trovatore" attracted capacity crowds of 400 persons, they walked down red-velvet carpeted aisles and sat in movable chairs with red velvet cushions.

Arkansas City has the unique plan of slipping itself, page by page, back into its own history in an effort to create a museum-like town to attract tourists and thus revive its economy.

Wooded by the fickle Mississippi, Arkansas City rapidly became, from its founding in 1873 until the 1920s one of the leading ports in southeastern Arkansas.

Then came the great 1927 flood and muddy water backed to a depth of 10 feet in the town.

Content with its damage, the river lifted the port and cradled herself in a channel three miles away, leaving Arkansas City high and, eventually, dry.

Since then the community's economy has remained fairly static and its physical condition fairly close to the 1890's period. Each year, for the past five years, some structure has been restored or some attraction added, to enhance the historic appearance.

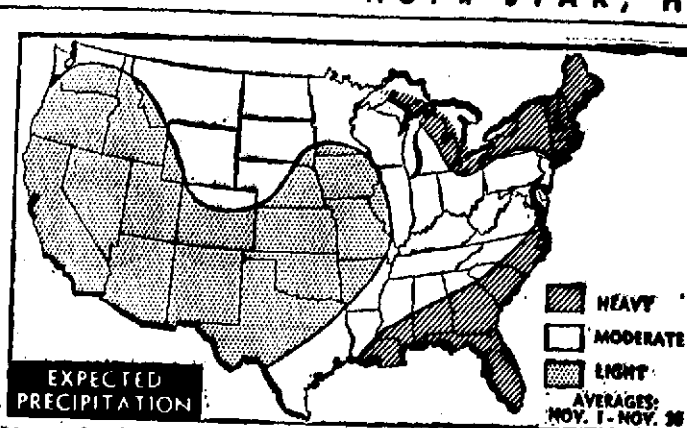

The opera house at Hot Springs is due to be razed and the one

The new crew of the kitchen arrived by plane, and, being competent hotel people, had shaken down into their new jobs without delay, so that on the day following the barbecue, breakfast was served to the guests either in the dining room or in their own apartments. For a moment Columbine was able to breathe easily; though, when she sat down at her desk to relax for a moment, she became uneasily conscious of a sense of foreboding.

These uneasy reflections were interrupted by the bustling arrival of a lot of Madame Roxy, accompanied by a young woman whom she introduced as Maxine Swan, society editor of the newspaper.

"I telephone Miss Swan," Madame said, "and told her about your debut. I told her I planned to show the state of Arizona when she is, all rigged out with a photographer, to interview you and get pictures for the Sunday society page." She beamed.

Miss Swan eyed Columbine suspiciously. "First, I want to know if this is a publicity stunt for this hotel."

Madame shouted, "Publicity stunt! This hotel's got nothing to do with it! It's my idea and I'm footin' the bill. It's to introduce this little girl to society, of which she don't know any. It's to show off the debutante and kind of publicize her points. Object matrimony. I ain't one to beat around the bush."

"May I see the guest list?" asked Miss Swan.

"Hain't got one yet. One reason I wanted to talk to you. You know everybody. You know who's who. Me, I don't know a blasted soul in this town, and neither does Columbine. What we want's the top crust."

"But, Madame (this time, the top crust, as you call them, won't come to just any party. You the hostess are unknown to them. So is Miss Drugget. They'll toss your invitations into their wastebaskets."

Women Lost, Won in Tues. Elections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Women, running for everything from coroner to Congress in Tuesday's election, suffered some setbacks in their national contests but scored numerous successes in seeking state offices.

As a result of losses in congressional races, the next national legislature will have only 13 women—the fewest since 1933. There were a record 20 in the 87th Congress, the last one.

The lone woman to try for the

"An option?" suggested Maxine. "That is it. An option."

"What company wants it?" The rumor is that it is a meat company. Like a plant where they cut cattle up into steaks and roasts."

"Who started this — rumor?" asked Miss Swan.

"That, naturally, I would not be at liberty to disclose," Columbine said. "But the option I am sure of, and that the property is to be surveyed by—by surveyors. I haven't any more to say. And I've simply got mountains of work."

Senate, Idaho's Rep. Gracie Post, lost out in close balloting to Republican incumbent Ben B. Jordan.

Mrs. Post, 56, is a veteran of more than 30 years in politics and a five-term Democratic member of the House. She probably could have kept her House seat but gambled for the Senate.

There were 28 women candidates for Congress. Aside from Mrs. Post, 16 were newcomers and only one made it.

She is Charlotte Reid, 48, a professional singer. She became a candidate in Illinois' 15th district when her attorney husband Frank Reid, the Republican nominee, died of a heart ailment.

Mrs. Reid won by a good margin over Democrat Stanley Cowan, 51, owner of a dry ice service in Dundee, Ill.

Seven women members of the 87th Congress retired because of health, personal or redistricting reasons. All the incumbents who sought re-election won easily.

They are: Republicans—Frances P. Bolton (Ohio's 22nd), Katharine St. George (New York's 27th), Florence Dwyer (New Jersey's 8th), and Catherine May Washington (4th).

Democrats — Martha Griffiths (Michigan's 17th), Leonor K. Sullivan (Missouri's 3rd), Edna F. Kelly (New York's 12th), Edith Green (Oregon's 3rd), Julia Butler Hansen (Washington's 3rd), and Elizabeth Kee (West Virginia's 5th).

Mrs. Bolton, a veteran of 25 years in Congress, received added pleasure with her re-election. Her son, Oliver P. Bolton, a former congressman, was elected to the House again. He defeated Democratic Rep. Robert E. Cook in Ohio's 11th District.

In Wyoming, Thyra Thomson, widow of Rep. Keith Thomson, a Republican, was elected secretary of State Minnie A. Mitchell, a Republican, was reelected state auditor.

The new Wyoming Legislature will have three women members in place of the previous two. Both women members of the 1961 legislature were re-elected, plus one newcomer. A total of seven women had more races.

In New Mexico, Alberta Miller, a Democrat, was elected secretary of state, a post traditionally held by women.

Connecticut Secretary of State Ella T. Grasso was re-elected as part of a Democratic sweep of state administrative offices. She defeated Helen Loy, Republican, for the job ordinarily filled by women.

Belle Everett, a Democrat, was re-elected state treasurer of Delaware.

In Nebraska, State Sen. Fern

Hubbard Orme of Lincoln easily won re-election to a third consecutive term as the only woman in the state's one-house legislature.

Eight women were elected to Ohio's House of Representatives and six were defeated. Eight women also were elected to seats in the Maryland Legislature, two of them to the senate.

The first patient was admitted to the Arkansas State Hospital on February 26, 1883.

Dimes Drive Helps Birth Defects

The tragedy of thalidomide, the drug which has caused deformities in thousands of newborn infants, has emphasized the need for public support of the March of Dimes fight against birth defects, according to Mr. and Mrs. Dean E. Murphy, Hempstead County Campaign Directors for the March of Dimes.

They have just returned from a pre-campaign meeting of volunteer leaders in Dallas planning this January's 25th Anniversary March of Dimes.

Mr. Murphy said Dr. Herbert T. Wagner, medical consultant for The National Foundation-March of Dimes and a principal speaker at the meeting, reported that headquarters and local chapters are now supporting more than 50 treatment centers for birth defects, arthritis and polio in various sections of the country. The program involves about half the nation's medical schools as affiliates.

"This means," said Mr. Murphy, "that more and more children with these crippling diseases can now receive complete medical care right in their home communities. I'm sure the American people will help us expand this vital program by supporting the March of Dimes in January."

In each center, Mrs. Murphy explained, teams of medical and other specialists provide comprehensive medical care and treatment to correct or limit crippling and disability caused by birth defects, arthritis, and polio.

Highlighting the Dallas meeting, they said, were illustrated lectures showing improvement of children treated at March of Dimes-financed centers. They were given by Dr. J. T. Jabbar, associate director of the Special Treatment Center for Birth Defects at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center, Children's Memorial Hospital, Oklahoma City, and Dr. John Baum, clinic director of the Special Treatment Center for Arthritis at the Southwestern Medical School and Park-den, the Friday Music Club of Hope presented a program on "Folk Songs of America" Thursday, November 8 in the home of Mrs. John Maddox. Next April the Camden club will present a program for the local group.

Mrs. Roy Stephenson was leader and introduced four songs arranged by John Powell. Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr. sang "At the Foot of Yonders Mountain" and "Pretty Sally." Mrs. Haskell Jones sang "The Deaf Woman's Courtship" and "The Frog Went Co'bin."

As a piano solo, "Sourwood Mountain" was played by Mrs. Benjamin Hyatt, who accompanied the vocalists. Mrs. Clarence Geist sang "He's Gone Away" and "I Wonder As I Wander."

A vocal ensemble rendered "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" and "I Dream of Jeanie" by Foster. Members of the Choral Club who took part are: Mrs. Basil Edwards, Mrs. Ralph Emerson, Mrs. George Frazier, Mrs. Clarence Geist, Mrs. Thomas E. Hays, Jr., Mrs. Benjamin Hyatt, Mrs. Haskell Jones, Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr., Mrs. Hendrix Spraggins, Mrs. Sam Strong, and Mrs. Arch Wylie.

DOROTHY DIX

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Two years ago I wrote you about a deeply disturbing situation. My younger son was going with a girl from a most undesirable family, with a mother who encouraged her daughter to live as casually as she.

The girl first dated my older son. He dropped her. Imagine my feelings. When my younger boy started dating the same girl, you advised me not to show any resentment toward her, nor appear to oppose the romance, but suggested, if financially practical, I send the boy away to school.

Soon after your letter arrived, another came like an answer to prayer, offering my son an opportunity to attend a university in another state. He accepted.

With tears of gladness in my eyes, I packed his things, praying that he would forget the girl. I must admit there were times when I felt like a tigress fighting to protect my child. Had he been standing on a cliff and about to be pushed over I could not have suffered more.

At the end of a year he returned, completed another semester in a college nearer home and the girl — whom he was again dating — finished high.

Perhaps I may have been an influence for good in her life — I like to think so — for she decided to become a nurse (I am a nurse) and entered training in a distant city.

I felt God had given me a reprieve for, as long as she was in training, they could not marry. Nevertheless I worried because.

instead of finishing college, my son took a job near her.

It was then I came to the conclusion that it was time for me to help and encourage her for it was obvious that she would eventually be part of my family. Having accepted the fact, the burden I had been carrying slowly slipped away.

Three weeks after the girl entered training, her mother was stricken by a heart attack and brought to the hospital where I work. I was assigned as nurse. Words cannot express my thankfulness that I had never let this woman nor her daughter know I felt association with their family would be my son's downfall.

The mother must have been very beautiful for there are still traces of loveliness in her clear, white skin and fading gold hair. As she lay gasping for breath, she clung to my hand and implored me to look after her daughter. I promised.

Watching her life ebb away, I asked God to forgive me for ever harboring the thought, "How can I endure it that my grandchildren will be your grandchildren, too."

The battles I fought my conscience that night cleansed my soul of all hatred and resentment toward her. If my son loved her daughter, I would do all in my power to love and be loved by them. She died in my arms with a smile on her lips and trust in her heart.

Her daughter is making a fine nurse. Voluntarily she assumed the responsibility of looking after things at home as well as going to school. She is at the top of her class.

I am doing all I can to be a real mother to her as well as to my son. I think so often how differently things might have turned out had I not taken your advice to never let them know my resentment, nor tried to separate them. My sincere thanks go to you. —A Grateful Mother.

Dear Grateful: Your letter can be very helpful to others. It illustrates the development of character through a determination to do right in life.

I read this letter aloud to my husband. "What a fine woman she must be!" he exclaimed.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Ten Com-

Things You Learn From Your Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never now if he didn't open his mail:

There are about 35,000 U.S. marriages each year with one or both partners 65 or older.

The older they are, the more likely they are to choose younger mates. Among bridegrooms in the 75-and-up bracket, 12 per cent picked brides at least 25 years younger; 18 per cent of brides in the same age group wed men 10 or more years younger.

It's against the law in the Sudan to send leeches through the mails. The oldest tomb to unknown American soldiers is in Trinity churchyard in New York City. Called the "Marys' Monument," the tomb honors American troops who died in British prison camps during the Revolutionary War.

Researchers have discovered that the tears a woman sheds when emotionally upset are chemically different from those she weeps while peeling onions.

The New York Telephone Co. reports some novel uses for its massive Manhattan directory, which runs to nearly 1,800 pages. A young baseball catcher threaded rope through one and employed it as a chest protector. A South American banana firm bought old directories to bulletproof its trucks.

Highway safety signs in Maryland: "Be late, Mr. Jones—not the late Mr. Jones." In Delaware: "Take your time, not your life. Drive safely."

Many think Franklin D. Roosevelt invented the presidential press conference. Actually, Woodrow Wilson held the first general one in the White House on March 15, 1913, just 11 days after taking office.

Since the end of World War II, new lifesaving drugs have reduced U.S. tuberculosis deaths by 83 per cent, influenza deaths, 90 per cent, and deaths from syphilis by 79 per cent.

America has about three-fourths of all the world's automobiles. There are twice as many cars in Los Angeles as in all South America.

It was Logan Pearson Smith who observed, "When they come downstairs from their ivory towers, idealists are apt to walk straight into the gutter."

Why Do Kids Next Door Steal Cars?

By BOB POOS

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — "We knew how to put a man into orbit. But we don't know why the kid next door steals a car."

Thus Myrl Alexander of Southern Illinois University sums up one of the problems he must solve. Alexander is leader of a group at the university's East St. Louis branch that is spearheading a nationwide survey into why the boy next door steals, robs or generally goes bad. They want to find out how to help the boy.

Alexander, a professor of sociology at SIU, is developing the first anti-juvenile delinquency center under the resident's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and Youth Crimes.

He won his professorship the hard way—30 years with the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, the last 14 as its assistant director.

The government gave SIU $182,000 to set up the center and find answers to the problems of juvenile delinquency.

"Nobody in the world has the answers to this problem," Alexander said. "We don't pretend to. But we are involved in a nationwide attempt to develop new approaches to it."

Alexander and his two-man staff—he hopes for at least 10—will work at two main tasks: training graduate students for work in the field of juvenile delinquency prevention and working with people already in youth work.

He noted that "three-fourths of juvenile crime occurs in urban areas and four-fifths of that is in highland areas where there is cultural, economic and educational deprivation—slums."

"On the other hand, some great

Wants More Consumption of Cloves

By LYNN HEINZELING

ANZIBAR (AP)—Anybody with a bright idea for increasing the consumption of cloves should get in touch with his highness the sultan, Seyyid Sir Abdulla Bin Khalifa, royal palace, Beit El-Ajah Square, Zanzibar.

The sultan's realm, which encompasses the tiny islands of Zanzibar and Pemba off East Africa, has 4.5 million clove trees and supplies 8 of every 10 cloves in the world.

The bottom has dropped out of that market. The huge warehouses of the Zanzibar Clove Growers Association are piled high with 22,000 tons of cloves—a two-year backlog.

The sweet, spicy smell of cloves gives the narrow streets and crowded bazaars of Zanzibar an oriental flavor, but the aroma is turning sour for the merchants.

At association headquarters, where the trade is controlled, they tell you sadly that Indonesia bought 3,000 tons of cloves in 1960, but only 3,000 in 1961. The 1962 figures look even worse: A ton of cloves is worth about $750 on the world market.

India's purchases have dropped from 2,500 tons to 500 tons. India and Indonesia traditionally are bulwarks of the clove market. In the past, they have taken about 90 per cent of the world supply.

The United States still buys about 1,000 tons a year. Most of it goes into spiced meats and other foods and, in the form of clove oil, into toothpaste, soaps, hard candy and ice cream.

The sultan is interested in the trade for a number of reasons. It provides a living for a good many of his subjects. It normally provides a third of all government revenue in the form of export taxes.

The clove which you see stuck in the ham is the unopened flower bud of the clove tree. The buds are picked by hand when they begin to turn pink and are almost ready to open. For the huge crop of 1957, more than 40,000 Africans came over from the mainland to help.

Leaders come from the slums; I remember a real good bank robber who grew up next door to Al Smith. We don't quite know why one kid might go one way and become a governor of New York and one go the other and become a bank robber."

Alexander said "treating of a delinquent as an individual has failed and we're moving away from this rapidly. It is too broad a problem with too many factors. Each individual is not a free moral agent. He is subject to the influence of the group."

By next summer a full course for school counselors will be ready here and by late winter, graduate students will be able to take courses in classrooms, prisons, jails and the courts.

Similar centers are being set up in Chicago, New York, New Orleans and other major cities.

Teachers Go Nearer the AIC Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas State Teachers College goes after the clincher Saturday night that can net the Bears their first clear-cut Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference football championship in more than 20 years.

The Bears are 6-0 in conference play, and they meet Henderson State Teachers College at Conway, ASTC's home, Saturday night.

A victory would put the Tutors on the AIC throne, but a defeat would set up a likely tie with Arkansas Tech's Wonder Boys, defending champions of the AIC.

Tech stayed in the running over the weekend with a 23-13 comeback - behind victory over Ouachita. The Wonder Boys' only loss this season was a 147 decision by ASTC at Conway.

Teachers clobbered Graceland Iowa, College, 48-0 Saturday night, warming up for the meeting with Henderson this weekend. The Reddies had to put forth their best offensive show of the year to down Harding College's Bisons and their rugged defense, 6-0.

Henderson piled up 386 yards total offense and made a first quarter touchdown, on an eighty-yard pass from Buddy Harp to James Gibbs, stand up for the victory margin. Harding ran into a stiff defense, too, and never moved past midfield against the Reddies.

Elsewhere around the league this week, Arkansas A&M broke a 20-20 tie to knock The College of the Ozarks into the AIC cellar 33-20. It was the first AIC victory for A&M, and the Mountaineers have yet to win in league play. Southern State fell 13-0 to Austin, Tex.

Against Graceland, the Bears let everyone get into the act, and most of them produced.

Bill Tiner raced 85 yards for a touchdown, Steve Hathcote plunged a yard for a score, Jim Tarrington sailed 12 yards for a touchdown, Billy Grubbs went seven for a score, Paul Cody plunged for one and freshman quarterback Johnny Beard passed for two touchdowns — 13 yards to Ernest Miller and 38 yards to Bill Shimek.

Ouachita took an early lead against Tech on a 75-yard pass play from quarterback Billy Richardson to end Jimmy Jackson.

But the Wonder Boys countered with a four-yard scoring pass from quarterback B. J. Moore to end Lynn Hallum and moved ahead on a 25-yard field goal by Sonny Zachary.

Charley Williams went one yard to give Ouachita the lead again, but Tech took command on a 24-yard pass from Moore to Hallum.

The game was iced on another scoring pass from Moore to Bill Shepherd for seven yards.

Phil Collins got Ozarks off to a brief lead with a 21-yard touchdown dash against A&M. But the Boll Weevils, avoiding last place in the league, rolled by on touchdowns by Sidney Phillips, Bill Lawrence and a scoring pass from Don Lindsey to Phillips.

Ozarks tied it on scoring passes from Vernon Adair to Irl Green and from Collins to Dean Tutor, but a 78-yard scoring sprint by A&M's Roger Bocox and a pass from Lindsey to Jimmy Atkinson for a touchdown put the Boll Weevils out of reach.

Southern State couldn't muster

Pine Bluff Remains on Top in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pine Bluff's conquest of Little Rock Central in a Big Nine Conference showdown kept the Zebras solidly in first place in the Associated Press Arkansas High School football poll this week.

The Zebras polled all first place votes for a total of 70 points.

Jonesboro, Region 2AA champion for the second year in a row, was solidly in second place and Helena, which lost in a title tussle last weekend to the Golden Hurricane, maintained its fourth-place ranking.

U.S. Players Finally Win Canada Cup

SAN ISIDRO, Argentina (AP)

The United States possessed its third straight Canada Cup golf trophy today but the American team of Arnold Palmer and Sam Snead almost lost it on the treacherous 10th hole of the Jack-o'-the-Club course.

Hoie No. 10 is a par 4, 466 yard dogleg to the right which appears harmless enough but is day firing four bogies in addition to the hidden obstacles.

It was there that Palmer three-putted for a bogey 5. Snead did even worse. The slammer from the West Virginia hills hooked his drive near the towering pine trees slammed an iron shot over the back of the green, hit a bank trying to reach the velvet and wound up with a 6.

Snead, who had led the tournament during its first three days, appeared harmless enough but today firing four bogies in addition to the double bogey.
